CHARLES F. (Charlie) THOMAS Chairman of the Board, Houston Rockets

In the space of little over a year, Charlie Thomas has gone from being a quietly successful businessman to one of the most envied entrepreneurs in America. In that period he saw his Houston Rockets basketball team crash and burn, only to rise from the ashes into what should be a formidable force in the National Basketball Association for many years to come. And if the Rockets team moves as quickly as Thomas did in retooling his organization, opponents beware.

For starters it took Thomas all of 30 minutes to close the deal that made two-time Coach of the Year Bill Fitch his new head coach. And observers are still shaking their heads about the one-week of deliberations from commencement to signing that made three-time College Player of the Year Ralph Sampson a part of the Red and Gold. Throw in Rodney McCray for good measure and Thomas has the makings of quite an entertaining package.

The Rockets house began rebuilding on May 19, when, with daughter Tracy's intuition getting a big assist, Thomas made the call "Heads" in the most celebrated coin flip in many an N.B.A. season. When the 100-year old silver dollar tossed by N.B.A. Commissioner Larry O'Brien came up heads, the Rockets had the rights to the first selection in the college draft, and there was no secret as to whom that pick would be.

But first the business of hiring a head coach and on June 1 Thomas tabbed one of the best in the business. Bill Fitch had led Boston to the 1981 World Championship and in his 13 seasons as an N.B.A. head coach had won more games, 546, than all but a handful of coaches.

Then on June 28th the Rockets officially made Ralph Sampson, the 7-4 talent who led Virginia to more wins than any college team over the past four seasons, 112, the top pick of the college crop. And with the 3rd pick the Rockets selected McCray, a member of Louisville's 1980 N.C.A.A. championship team and two other final four appearances.

Born in Knoxville, Tenn., Thomas, 52, has been a Texan since 1956 when he joined an automobile dealership in Corpus Christi. From 1959 until 1967 he was with a Ford dealership in San Antonio, eventually serving as General Manager under B.J. "Red" McCombs, who became the owner of the Denver Nuggets in the same 1982 summer that Thomas bought the Rockets. A salesman in that dealership was Angelo Drossos, presently the President of the San Antonio Spurs.

Charlie purchased his first automobile dealership in 1967 and has since purchased 20 dealerships in the Southwest. He has parlayed that into investments in ranching, breeding bulls, insurance, real estate, beer, a ski resort, a restaurant and hotels. He is Chairman of the Board of BancTexas Westheimer and is on the Board of the BancTexas Group. He also is a major shareholder in First Texas Savings Association.

He and his wife, Kittsie, make their home in River Oaks. They are the parents of three daughters: Kelly (Mrs. Ed) Schmidt; Robin (Mrs. Fred) Carroll, and Tracy Lee, a senior at Texas A&M University.

SIDNEY L. SHLENKER Vice-Chairman of the Board, Houston Rockets

Sidney Shlenker returned to the local pro sports scene as co-owner of the Houston Rockets in June, 1982. During the 1970's, he had been President of the Astrodomain Corporation and the Houston Astros Baseball Club. Shlenker is Chairman of the Board of Security National Bank, which in 1980 became part of Allied Bancshares. Shlenker and friend Allen Becker head Pace Management which markets and produces major entertainment and sports events. Those two joined with Barry Lewis to purchase, renovate and operate theatres in the South and Southwest including the Tower in Houston, the Saenger in New Orleans, the Majestic in San Antonio and the Orpheum in Memphis. Shlenker also produced for the theatre the off-Broadway production of "Entertaining Mr. Sloan," the Broadway hit (7 Tony nominations) "Joseph and The Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat," and Arthur Miller's "A View From The Bridge" (3 Tony nominations). He is on the board of Theatre Now, Inc., New York and is Chairman of the Board of Channel 21, Dallas/Ft. Worth and Channel 20, Houston. He also serves on the boards of First Texas Savings Association; F. Strauss & Son, Inc., New Orleans, Decor Noel and Gulf Inland Corporation.

RAY A. PATTERSON

President and General Manager, Houston Rockets

Last summer Houston Post columnist Mickey Herskowitz stated that Ray Patterson was the Houston sports executive who best understood the sports business. "He has outlasted several ownerships and Ray could not have survived had he not leveled with himself and . . . with the fans. He does not believe in hype. Ray does not give you a lot of jive about the mystery and romance of sports, the meaning of life or the agony of defeat."

In the summer of 1982 Charlie Thomas had purchased the Houston Rockets and began his ownership by telling Patterson that he would be evaluating him as his No. 1 guy. It took Thomas no longer than six months to complete that evaluation and concur with some of Herskowitz' comments above. "Ray is my man and I'll stick with what he wants to do. Ray is a bottom line guy. We think a lot alike. In any successful business, I feel it's important for the chairman to have a president he can totally rely on to make the proper decisions and therefore improve the product."

During his 15 years as an operating officer in the N.B.A., a term equaled by Jerry Colangelo at Phoenix and surpassed only by Red Auerbach's 32 years at Boston, Patterson's teams at Milwaukee and Houston have been to the playoffs nine times. And when the 1981 Rockets surprised by making it to the league's final round, it gave Patterson the distinction of being the only General Manager in the 37-year history of the N.B.A. to have been in the finals with different franchises. His Rockets lost the championship series to Boston, but his 1971 Milwaukee Bucks claimed the title with the fastest leap, just three years, in pro sports history from expansion franchise to World Champion.

Voted by his peers as the 1977 Sporting News N.B.A. Executive of the Year, Patterson saw his team win the Central Division that season with the best record in club history, 49-33, and advance to the Conference finals before elimination by Philadelphia. The 1981 team, with a 40-42 record, was runner-up in the division but advanced to the final round, enroute claiming the Western Conference title.

Only the third General Manager in the 16-year existence of the Rockets franchise, Patterson was preceded by Jack McMahon, who served the first year, 1967-68, and by Pete Newell, who held the job for four seasons, 1968-72. Under Patterson's direction, the franchise has gained league-wide respect for both organizational and operational performance. The team has won at least 40 games in seven of the last nine years, earning playoff spots six times. From a franchise low attendance average of 3,855 in 1973-74, the club set an all-time mark of 11,710 in 1981-82.

Patterson played professional basketball with the Flint, Mich. team in the old National Basketball League after earning four letters in the sport at the University of Wisconsin where he was team captain and Most Valuable Player in his final two years. Holder of Bachelor and Masters degrees from Wisconsin, he then returned to his high school, Wayland Academy, Beaver Dam, Wis. as basketball coach in 1949. He was named President and Headmaster of the school in 1954, remaining there until tabbed as President of the Milwaukee Bucks in 1968. He came to Houston as President and General Manager of the Rockets in May, 1972.

Ray and his wife, Ruth, reside in Sugarland, Tx. Oldest son Pat is in California while sons Steve and Pete and daughters Liz and Peggy attend the University of Texas in Austin.

BILL FITCH

Head Coach, Houston Rockets

Bill Fitch has been there before. 13 years ago he took a job coaching the Cleveland Cavaliers — a club at that time without players. Yet just six years later his Cavaliers were to earn three straight playoff berths and post winning marks, including the best mark in franchise history, 49-33, in 1975-76 when he was named N.B.A. Coach of the Year.

In 1979 he decided to move on to a Boston Celtics team coming off a 29-win season — that team's poorest mark in over three decades. All he accomplished in his first season with the Celtics was a 32-game turn-around, from 29-53 to 61-21, the best record in the N.B.A. In his first three years with the Boston team Fitch posted a 186-60 mark, the second best 3-year record in league history.

So where is Bill Fitch today? He's starting all over again with a club that posted the 2nd worst mark ever by an established franchise in winning 14 and losing 68 last season. And what's Fitch's reaction? "It's another challenge, a new mountain to climb."

Four years ago Fitch started his last climb in company with a rookie by the name of Larry Bird who was to become a first-team All-Pro four straight times. This time around Fitch is starting out with a 7-4 center, Ralph Sampson, who has been college player of the year three times. In addition to his affinity for challenge, Fitch says: "How many coaches wouldn't like to have the opportunity to coach Sampson."

Call it coincidence but Fitch's birthday happens to be May 19. Fitch may have been blowing out the candles in Boston that day when Houston's franchise took on a glow of its own due to heads turning up in the coin flip with Indiana which secured the drafting rights to Ralph Sampson. 12 days later the Rockets were announcing that Fitch, who had resigned his Boston post only four days prior, would be the man to lead the Rockets back to respectability.

The seventh winningest coach in N.B.A. history, despite those growing pains for four years at Cleveland, Fitch is a player's coach with the best interests of his players foremost in his mind. But he demands plenty from his players and is candid with them when those expectations are not met.

"He wants perfection, but that's what you have to have," says Bird. "He demands so much from his players," says Robert Parish, nurtured by Fitch to All-Star status after four average seasons at Golden State. "He takes things into consideration that other coaches don't," says Gerald Henderson, whom Fitch took from the Continental League to a key role on a World Championship club. "He'll tear things apart if there's something that can get you two points," says veteran M. L. Carr.

Fitch began his coaching career as a baseball mentor and assistant basketball coach at Creighton University where he received a Masters degree in educational psychology in 1958. He returned to his alma mater, Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, as basketball coach and after four years there, moved on to five years as the head man at North Dakota where he made two trips to the NCAA Division II Final Four. He then won a Mid-American Conference title in his only season at Bowling Green and concluded his collegiate coaching with two years at Minnesota.

"In Bill Fitch we have not only a great basketball strategist but an excellent teacher," says Rockets President and General Manager Ray Patterson. "One of the things I find most appealing is that he learned to take the tears with the laughter. He has been through losing situations and turned them into winning ones. Several times."

CARROLL DAWSON

Assistant Coach, Houston Rockets

Carroll Dawson starts his fourth season as an assistant coach of the Houston Rockets, but his first as an aide to new coach Bill Fitch after three years with Del Harris. A native of Alba, Texas, where his final prep team went 44-3, Carroll won junior college All-American honors at Paris, Texas under Coach Boyd Converse. He went on to lead Baylor University in scoring and rebounding, 13.3 and 7.3 as a junior in 58-59, and 16.4 and 8.8 as a senior in 59-60 under Coach Bill Henderson. In 1963 Carroll returned to Baylor as an assistant to head basketball coach Bill Menefee, presently the Bears' athletic director. After ten seasons as an assistant, Dawson succeeded Menefee in 1973 and served as head coach for three and a half seasons. After leaving Baylor he worked in the scouting department of the Dallas Cowboys and was with the sporting goods division of the Converse Rubber Company prior to joining the Rockets in 1980. A bachelor, Dawson resides in Southwest Houston.

RUDY TOMJANOVICH

Assistant Coach, Houston Rockets

The first member of the Houston Rockets to ever have his number (45) retired, Rudy Tomjanovich is in his first full season as an assistant coach after having served the club in a scouting capacity for two years. One of a small number of players to have spent an entire playing career with the same franchise, Rudy spent 11 seasons in a Rockets uniform, having been the club's top draft pick, the 2nd choice overall, in 1970. Detroit took Bob Lanier with the first pick. During his career, Rudy amassed 13,383 points, second only to Calvin Murphy on the club point list, and 6,198 rebounds, trailing only Moses Malone and Elvin Hayes in that category. Rudy posted career marks of 17.4 in scoring and .501 in field goal accuracy. Five times he was selected to play in the All-Star Game and was a starter in the 1979 game played at Pontiac, Michigan. At the University of Michigan Rudy set the school rebounding mark at that time and trailed only Cazzie Russell in scoring total. Rudy and his wife, Sophie, reside in Southwest Houston with daughters Nicole, 10, and Melissa, 7, and infant son Rudy III.

DICK VANDERVOORT

Trainer, Houston Rockets

A Rocket original along with Calvin Murphy and Rudy Tomjanovich who came to Houston with the team in 1971, Dick Vandervoort is in his 13th season as trainer and traveling secretary. He also serves as Chairman of the N.B.A. Trainer's Association and represents that group in dealing with the N.B.A., with the Player's Association and with club physicians. Dick ranks as the 5th most senior trainer in the league, only Atlanta's Joe O'Toole, Golden State's Dick D'Oliva, Philadelphia's Al Domenico and Phoenix' Joe Proski having been with their clubs longer. Prior to joining Houston, Dick had been the head athletic trainer at Washington State University for 11 seasons and also was the trainer for a year at Wichita State. Dick is a 1958 graduate of the University of Kansas and is a native of Concordia, Kansas. The father of sons Mark, 20, and Todd, 18, Dick and his wife, Concetta, reside in Northwest Houston.

GENE PETERSON

Broadcaster, Houston Rockets

With 707 consecutive broadcasts of Houston Rockets regular season and playoff games, Gene Peterson returns for his 9th season as the play-by-play Voice of the Rockets. A favorite of the fans for his emotion-filled and descriptive style, Gene again will be heard on KPRC Radio-950. He joined the Rockets for the 1975-76 season after having been Sports Director of KPRC for the previous year. A native of Albert Lea, Minn., Peterson studied broadcasting at the Brown Institute in Minneapolis and began his career in radio following Air Force duty. Prior to his move to Houston he worked at WECL in Eau Claire, Wis., KOB in Albuquerque, N.M., and KCMO in Kansas City, Mo. Gene and his wife, Marsha, reside in Kingwood with daughter Jennifer, 17, a senior at Kingwood High School, and sons Todd, 20, and Paul, 11. Todd is a junior at Southwest Texas State in San Marcos.

THE SUMMIT

The Summit, home of the National Basketball Association Houston Rockets, is a 17,000 seat sports and entertainment facility. Capacity for Rockets' games is 15,816.

Between 1.5 and 2 million patrons attend in excess of 175 events at The Summit each year. In addition to the Houston Rockets, The Summit annually hosts Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, Ice Capades, the Lipizzan Stallions, the Harlem Globetrotters, Disney's Great Ice Odyssey, Sesame Street Live and an array of concerts, sports and family entertainment events.

John Crowe Productions, The Summit's in-house television production company, regularly provides production facilities for live color broadcasts to the networks. The Summit's two 15' x 20' closed circuit color television screens, suspended at each end of the arena, make every seat front row quality. These screens provide instant replay, slow-motion, stop-action, and live interview capabilities for all events.

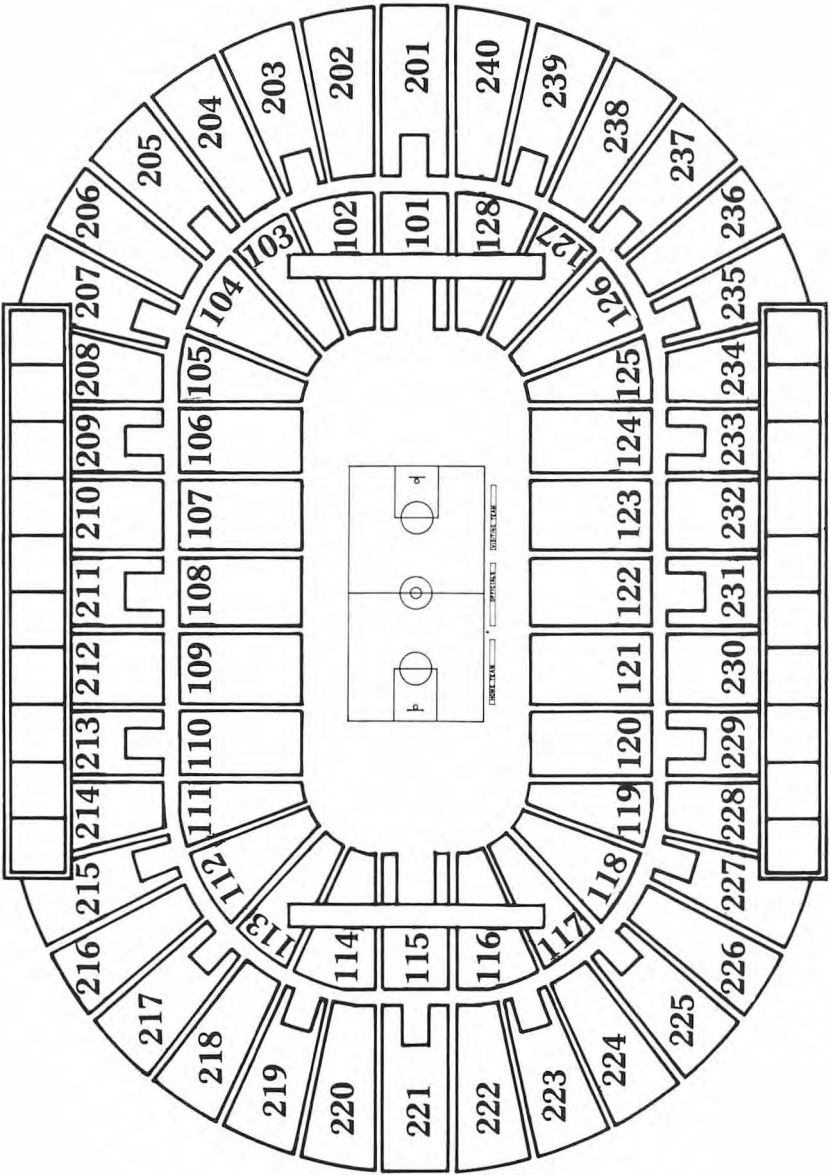

The television production facilities are a perfect complement to the accommodations that The Summit offers the working media. Press facilities include a workroom, lounge, and dining area for 200 persons.

Ideally situated only 5 minutes from downtown Houston, The Summit is located in Greenway Plaza, one of the most advanced commercial complexes in the nation. There are 12 hotels and 25 restaurants within a 2-mile radius of the building. The Summit is within 40 minutes of Houston's two major airports, Houston Intercontinental and William P. Hobby.

The Summit, the premiere sports and entertainment facility in the Southwest, is proud to be home of the Houston Rockets.
